

In an industry that is far from conventional, cannabis companies need more than traditional tax and accounting services to achieve long-term success. Grassi's Cannabis Advisors are committed to providing the guidance that cannabis, industrial hemp and CBD businesses need to maximize tax savings, secure funding, manage cashflow, implement new technology and make other important business decisions.

With our staff of over 300 auditors and tax professionals, coupled with our affiliation with Moore North America, Grassi advisors understand the cannabis industry on a local, national and international level and leverage strategic partnerships across the United States, Canada and overseas.
